

The Rocket

GLASS PENGUINS, from Bellingham, sent me perhaps one of the worst recorded tapes I've ever heard, and it's also one of the silliest and most fun. Their four song cassette shows promise and a fondness for Paul McCartney, including a cover of Mac's mid-'70s hit, "Junior's Farm." Impish lyrics set to melodic music. This foursome really must meet the Young Fresh Fellows someday. (O.K. Records, 922 Indiana Street, Bellingham, WA 98225)

Our favorite band from Bellingham, the GLASS PENGUINS, have put out their second demo, "It's A Festival." Their first demo was silly and ridiculous; their second is silly and getting serious. The Penguins are a kind of quieter, more poppy Young Fresh Fellows, right down to their Scott McCaughey vocals, and they share that band's humor and easy-going attitude. Keep working hard, guys, you're improving considerably. (OK Records, 922 Indiana St., Bellingham, WA 98225)
