

Happy Halloween! is the grand finale in our series of early, barely released Green Pajamas material. The original 8-song Happy Halloween! cassette was released thirty years ago this month, on October 20, 1984, a mere four months after the release of Summer of Lust. A stunning total of ten cassettes were made for the entire world (or West Seattle, depending on your viewpoint). Those eight songs are featured here as the current tracks 4-11 in their original order. For this release we have added 13 mostly unreleased PJ's songs recorded in an 8-month period between Summer of Lust and their first single, "Kim the Waitress." A few, like "Thinking Only of You" saw very limited release on the occasional comp here and there and have been highly sought commodities among the Pajamas collectors.

For those looking for high fidelity, you won't find it here. These songs were recorded sometimes on 4-track, sometimes right to cassette tape. They were mastered from cassettes. What you will find is (mainly) two West Seattle guys Jeff and Joe setting the crucible of creativity on fire. You will find a great bunch of songs that are already expanding away from the psychedelic label they got with Summer of Lust. By the end of this group of recordings, they are becoming the "Kim" band, with Steven Lawrence and Karl Wilhelm becoming members.

Jeff Kelly and The Green Pajamas have made over 30 albums in the last 30 years – a consistently intriguing body of work. They perform in public occasionally.

A little press from the 2009 Summer of Lust rerelease:

"There is a timeless, pop quality about Green Pajamas songs written by the gifted Jeff Kelly (interviewed here) and Ross, and the lo-fi quality of these 15 songs takes nothing away from their slightly Indo-tinged/Eight Miles High paisley pop-rock. In fact the wiry nature of their sound in these sessions actually enhances their impact." Graham Reid - Elsewhere
